Value for money arrangements

Our work on the Council's value for money arrangements for 2023/24 is also complete. Our Auditor's Annual Report for the 2023/24 audit, which contains our commentary on the arrangements the Council has in place to secure value for money in its use of resources, is being reported to the March Audit Committee meeting. We have concluded the Council has proper arrangements in place for the year to 31 March 2024, and we have not identified any significant weaknesses in those arrangements.

Audit for the year ending 31 March 2025

Financial statements audit

We will be commencing our audit planning for the 2024/25 audit in April 2025. We will discuss and agree the dates for our audit work with management as part of our planning procedures and will report the timetable in our Audit Strategy Memorandum. At this stage our intention is to carry out the Council's audit in the summer period in order to complete the audit significantly earlier than for the 2023/24 audit year.

Value for money arrangements

The NAO's revised Code of Audit Practice from 2024/25, requires auditors to issue their Auditor's Annual Report, which includes commentary on the Council's value for money arrangements, by 30 November each year. We plan to complete our work on the value for money arrangements and present this report to the Audit Committee in advance of 30 November 2025.

This guide outlines how finance leaders across government can allocate resources effectively when resources are scarce and trade-offs need to be made. It focuses on three principles:

- Using information intelligently an organisation should use trusted and objective information intelligently, so it can allocate resources to support strategic objectives.
- Prioritising effectively – finance leaders should support decision makers to make difficult decisions and trade-offs to generate good value-for-money outcomes based on agreed priorities.

15. NAO report: Local government financial sustainability

The NAO has published its report Local government financial sustainability. The Ministry of Housing, Communities & Local Government, (MHCLG) is responsible for the accountability framework for local government and distributes core funding to local authorities. It leads on oversight of financial risk in individual local authorities and the system overall while responsibility for the services local authorities deliver is spread across government departments.

This report focuses on MHCLG as the department responsible for the framework within which local authorities operate, and provides transparency over the current position of local government finances. By examining the current finance system and context for local government finances, the NAO aims to help inform MHCLG's consideration of future reforms. The report considers:

- the context of local government finances in 2024;
- service and financial pressures; and
- the government's approach to local government financial sustainability.

The report concludes that funding for local government has increased in recent years, reversing the long-term downward trend of the previous decade. However, while real terms funding has grown by 4% between 2015-16 and 2023-24, it has not kept pace with population growth or the demand for services, the complexity of need, or the cost of delivering services to people most in need of support.

Proposed reforms of the local government finance system have been repeatedly delayed. Some services are showing the strain, and more local authorities are requesting financial support, some due to the increasing costs of delivering essential frontline services such as homelessness and social care. Despite short-term measures to address acute funding shortfalls, there has been insufficient action to address the systemic weaknesses in local government financial sustainability.

As the government turns its attention to local government reforms, it is essential that this is part of a whole-system, cross-government approach to ensure local authorities are financially sustainable and can continue to provide essential services. This approach needs to ensure effective local accountability for the service and financial performance of each local authority, including robust independent assurance.

16. NAO Insight: Managing the commercial lifecycle

The NAO has published good practice guidance Managing the commercial lifecycle that has been updated in response to the implementation of the Procurement Act 2023. It reflects upon findings and recommendations drawn from 200 reports concerning over 300 commercial arrangements that have been published over the past 20 years.

The 'commercial lifecycle' means the entire process starting with the identification of a requirement that may be delivered by a supplier to government through to the selection and appointment process, contract management activity, and ending with contract termination or transition to alternative arrangements.

This is a revised and condensed edition of commercial good practice guidance that has been updated regularly since 2008. It remains essential reading for policy and commercial staff involved at all levels of public procurement and commercial activities – including senior leaders and non-executive board members of public authorities. The guidance is presented in ten sections, addressing both strategic and procedural considerations.

To support this guidance, the NAO also updated its guide on the Commercial Audit Framework, which highlights the key questions at each of the ten key stages of procurement. Whether it's the commercial strategy for public procurement, the publication of good-quality, relevant information on a timely basis, or deciding whether to extend the contract or re-procure.

In the 2023/24 inspection cycle, the FRC inspected six NHS and two local government audits. The results of these inspections are included in this report.
